

Presentations

Use this space to:

Consider the key teaching points you intend to share. Will you use slides to support your content? Will you need to source examples to illustrate your insights? If your presentation is on the longer side, plan for bursts of engagement (questions, brief activities, or discussions) to hold your participants' interest.

A large, empty grid area with rounded corners, intended for planning presentation details. The grid consists of small, light gray squares on a white background, enclosed within a dark blue border.